They had marched on foot under heavy guard from Agua Prieta to Villa Verde, and arrived Thursday night after Villa had destroyed General Huachuca and other American army officers that they had been killed by Villa or shot by him from the Carranza trenches.

Apparently to make his statement more convincing, Villa again sentenced them to death. Then yesterday came the order for their release and for the last time they were taken to Naco, Ariz. Meanwhile they were relieved of their watches and kept by Villa soldiers while they stayed in Naco. The automobiles driven by Wilson and Taylor.

HARVARD RECORDS FOURTH STRAIGHT VICTORY OVER PRINCETON

Crimson Players Slow and Uncertain, but Still Strong Enough to Win by Score of 10 to 6.

PRINCETON LACKS PUNCH TO GET OVER

Great Crowd Sees Contest, Which Generally Is Disappointing as Exhibition of Class A Football.

[By Evening Herald Leased Wire] Princeton, N. J., Nov. 6.—Harvard won its fourth straight football victory from Princeton today. The game was played at 2 to 4 to defeat Princeton. In order to bring out the Princeton backing, the Harvard contingent was obliged to offer odds.

The game dragged at times, especially when Harvard and the ball. The Crimson players appeared uncertain of their signals and frequently displayed the game while getting together on the next play. However, they put up a good mechanical game and had the power to score. Princeton lacked the punch to put the ball over when she got into Harvard territory.

The weather was fine and a great crowd saw the contest.

The Game in Detail.

Wagering switched in Harvard's favor just before the beginning of play. Harvard was quoted at 2 to 4 to defeat Princeton. In order to bring out the Princeton backing, the Harvard contingent was obliged to offer odds.

First Period. Harvard won the toss and chose the north goal with the wind behind them. Parrett kicked off to Mahan on the 25-yard line and two exchanges of punts and two penalties of five yards each against the Tigers for off-side. Harvard's fifteen yards. With the help of the wind Mahan's kicking steadily forced Princeton back. A forward pass grounded and Mahan missed a field goal by inches from the 45-yard mark.

Parrett kicked off again, Mahan coming back eight yards. Two line players tackled thirteen yards. Mahan kicked across the line again. Princeton scrambled but couldn't gain and another exchange of punts gave Tibbitt a fair catch on his 25-yard mark. A fair kick gained six yards in the period ended. Score: Harvard, 7; Princeton, 0.

Second Period. On the first play of the second period Shea rumbled and Soney left on the fall of Princeton's 25-yard mark. Harvard was penalized five yards for offside. Mahan did not tackle and deduced to the 45-yard mark. King failed twice to gain but Mahan made that yard. Again King failed and Princeton took the ball on downs less than a yard from the line.

Princeton's punt made a free kick by Watson on the 40-yard mark and Mahan successfully converted it into a field goal. Score: Harvard, 10; Princeton, 0.

The next kickoff went over the line and Mahan ran it on twenty yards. Tibbitt and Mahan scored the ball to the 25-yard mark where the latter punted. Tibbitt's offense began to work. Two plays later Princeton lost thirty yards for holding. Mahan made four at center and an offside on the Tiger's back line more in their 25-yard mark. A delayed pass and a forward pass both failed and Mahan was forced out of bounds on a third run. He dropped back while from the 25-yard line, a touchdown resulting.

ANOTHER FACTORY FIRE HORROR ADDED TO NEW YORK'S GRIM LIST

BOMB WRECKS THE OFFICES OF ITALIAN CONSUL IN NEW YORK

Third Attempt Within a Year to Destroy Main Assembling Point for Italian Reservists.

EXPLOSIVE THROWN AT BUILDING FROM STREET

Police, in General Round-up, Fail to Find Anyone on Whom Definite Suspicion Can Rest.

[By Evening Herald Leased Wire] New York, Nov. 6.—The third attempt within a year to wreck the offices here of the Italian consul general, G. E. E. Fori, with a bomb, was made today. The bomb, said to have been hurled from a nearby roof, struck the pavement a short distance away from the building, exploded with a roar that was heard for blocks, ripped apart the cobblestones, rooted the neighborhood and filled the street with the rain of broken glass, but caused slight damage otherwise and failed to injure any one.

The consul general and his staff were in their offices at the time with the Italian reservists who were presumably seeking to return home. Policemen nearby turned in an alarm and detectives and reserves swarmed to the scene. They spread a cordon about the place and in their dragnet temporarily detained everyone who could not give convincing reasons for his presence in the neighborhood.

Passerby said they had seen a flaming object thrown from a roof nearby. An Italian boy found on the roof of one of the houses in the neighborhood was taken to police headquarters.

After further investigation the police said they thought the bomb had been dropped in the street by a man who became frightened when he saw a patrolman standing by. A woman told the detectives she had seen a man place what she thought was a bomb of dirt in the gutter and a few moments later saw it explode.

Ordinarily there are from 200 to 500 reservists standing in line awaiting entrance to the building, in the street where the bomb was exploded. Today the number was smaller and they were consequently sent into the building.

Two previous attempts had been made by bombs and one by fire to wreck the consulate. The bombs were extinguished before exploding and the fire was put out before it gained headway. Examination today, however, showed that the work had been interrupted with the intention of destroying the building.

Driggs called in a new player and Tibbitt for new clothes, doubling them behind a screen of players. Tibbitt then kicked his second field goal. Score: Harvard, 10; Princeton, 0.

Driggs caught the Harvard kickoff on his goal line and came back twenty-three yards. A forward pass grounded and Driggs punted to Harvard's 45-yard line. Watson caught. ### Fire Wipes Out Daniels Paper Plant Again

Raleigh, News and Observer Burned Second Time Since Its Owner Has Been Naval Secretary.

[By Evening Herald Leased Wire] Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 6.—The entire plant and building of the News and Observer, owned by the secretary of the navy, Josephus Daniels, was destroyed by fire early today. The large printing establishment of E. M. Daniels and company also is a complete loss. Several small stores are either partially or completely destroyed.

W. H. Bagley, business manager of the News and Observer, was painfully injured by a falling piece of machinery. First estimates of the property loss, with the fire still burning, were about $250,000.

It was the second time the News and Observer had been burned out since Secretary Daniels has been at the head of the navy department, the first fire having occurred April 2, 1912.

The fire started in the plant of E. M. Daniels and company and shortly afterward an explosion, which flames in the adjoining buildings. Practically nothing was saved from either plant. Two firemen were injured.

Secretary Daniels was notified by telephone and immediately left Washington.

STRIKERS HELP CHECK BIG FIRE IN ARIZONA COPPER COMPANY PLANT

[By Evening Herald Leased Wire] Clifton, Ariz., Nov. 6.—The Arizona copper concentrator, mill number two and three and the ore bins of the Arizona Copper company are a total loss today from the fire which started last night in a mass of electric wires. The damage is estimated today at $20,000. For two hours the fire threatened Chase Creek and North Clifton.

Investigation today as to the cause of the fire indicated that the fire started from an arc light among defective electric wires. All the lights in the works had been kept burning at night and the plant was under guard.

The flames got under such headway before help arrived that it was not until early this morning that the fire was under absolute control.

Employees of the company who have been on strike since September 17 forgot their grievances against the company and helped move the company property. Three of the strikers were hurt by falling timber, one, a Mexican, seriously.

Today's War Summary

Nish has been captured by the Bulgarians. The Serbian city, which has been the national capital during the greater part of the war, fell into the hands of King Ferdinand's forces after three days of fighting, an official announcement from Berlin states.

From the north the Austro-German forces are fast crowding down upon the Serbian army. These thousand prisoners were captured by the Austro-German forces which captured Vartopar.

The Greek cabinet situation is still unsettled. King Constantine is reported from Athens to have prevailed upon M. Zaimis to retain the premiership, although Paris hears that the resignation of the Zaimis cabinet has been definitely accepted by the king.

Field Marshal Earl Kitchener has been entrusted with "an important mission to the east," a London newspaper announces and has already left London.

German submarines again are active in the Mediterranean, having sunk three ships, two French and one Italian, in rapid succession.

A dispatch from Algiers this afternoon added another steamer to the list—the Sidi Feruch, sunk off the Algerian coast.

In Galicia the Germans claim to have pushed the Russians back to their old positions along the east bank of the Strpa river, and to have taken more than 6,000 prisoners. The latest German statement reported seven battalions in this district, the outcome not being announced.

In the Dynek region the Russians are continuing their offensive, but Berlin declares their attempts to break the German lines have been futile.

TWENTY GIRLS LOSE LIVES IN BROOKLYN FIRE TRAP TODAY

Wooden Building in Williamsburg Section, Housing 500 Operatives, Turned Into a Roaring Furnace.

VICTIMS CAUGHT ON WAY TO FIRE ESCAPES

Sixty or More Carried to Hospitals and Total of Lives Lost May Prove Formidable.

[By Evening Herald Leased Wire] New York, Nov. 6.—Twenty men and girls were killed and more than fifty others were injured, according to police, in a fire that swept through a four-story wooden factory building on North Eighth street in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn today.

Fifteen bodies, nearly all girls, had been carried out of the building at 3 o'clock. Firemen said a number of other bodies were lying just inside windows opening into the escape, and they estimated that the number of dead would be at least twenty. At this time part of the roof collapsed, interfering for a time with the recovery of bodies.

Within a short time after the fire was discovered eight girls had been burned to death on the fire escapes, while a number of others, police say, had not a similar fate before they could reach the escapes.

The fire started close to the stairs on the first floor and spread so rapidly that escape by the stairs from the upper floors was entirely cut off. The upper floors were occupied by a shirt concern and a cloak manufacturing company. Between 350 and 400 operatives, mostly young girls, were at work there, it was stated, when the fire broke out. It was among these employees that most of the casualties occurred.

Within a few moments the ladders were jammed with frightened men and girls. Meanwhile the fire was spreading rapidly through the various floors.

A great crowd had gathered and many spectators called to the girls and men on the escapes not to jump. In what seemed to be an incredibly short time, however, flames began pouring through several windows.

A few moments later the crowd was horrified to see a number of girls hurled to death as they clung to a fire escape.

Nearly all of the employees of the El Diamond Candy company, on the ground floor, left at noon. It was near 2 p. m. when a girl employed in the offices of the candy company started from the building and found smoke pouring from the main hallway from the stairway.

She notified her own firm, the Essex shirt company and the B. L. U. Tailoring company, which occupied the upper floors, where fully 250 persons, mostly young girls, were at work. When the news leading to the stairs on the upper floors were opened, survivors told the police, the stairs already were aflame and escape shut off. The men were slammed shut and the operatives on each floor rushed to windows opening onto the fire escapes.

A score or more girls jumped, and nearly all were caught by men in the crowd. Those that were not caught were seriously injured.

By this time fire apparatus reached the scene and fire men were quickly spread. Scores then jumped to safety. Sixty-eight girls and men were seriously burned or injured, despite the nets, and all were rushed to hospitals or treated on the spot.

Eight girls and one man were burned to death on a fire escape, police said. The flames pouring from the windows were so fierce that it was impossible to reach a number of the bodies until they had been burned beyond recognition.

Harvard Wins Cross-Country Run. New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6.—Harvard won the cross-country run with Yale today, 25 to 29. Harvard freshmen won their cross-country run with Yale freshmen by a wide margin over the three-mile course.
